Founded in 1947, Hal Leonard Corporation has become the worlds largest print music publisher, representing some of the greatest songwriters and artists of all time. We are proud to publish titles of interest to all musicians as well as music lovers, from songbooks and instructional titles to artist biographies and instrument price guides to books about the music industry and all the performing arts.

I am a fan of these Hal Leonard violin collections. For each song there's a demo track where a violinist plays the written music over accompaniment, and a performance track with just accompaniment. Good performance tracks are hard to find for stringed instruments, especially where pop music is concerned. Let's face it, if you bought this particular book, then it was primarily for the performance tracks, period. All of the melodies are simple enough that anybody with very little training could figure them out on their own. And the tracks for this collection are good, some very good. Well worth the price. Some of the other HL collections are difficult, for advanced players. Not this one. The title says "beginners." I suppose that I could quibble with the recording violinist's interpretation of a melody, but why, when I am the one who ultimately is playing it. The demo is just that, a demo. The backing track is what is wanted and all that is needed for these songs. I can change the written melody if I want to better conform to the originals, where the pop artists sing the same melodies in a song a bit differently each time. The backing tracks let me do that. My only so-called complaint would be with one song, the backing track of which IMHO adheres too faithfully to the original. I mean, we're talking about a violin performance, here, ultimately. It's hard to meld with the original sound somehow. But that's a little nitpick of mine and shouldn't detract from the 5 stars this collection deserves. It's a good collection. If you like some or all of the songs, you'll probably be glad you got this. Well done to Hal Leonard

This is NOT AS ADVERTISED. It was supposed to contain chords and lyrics and it contains neither. Also: the "peak inside" showed the piece that I'm interested in to be in the key of G, mostly on the D and A strings-Perfect for beginners but in fact it's in the key of C With a lot of G string.

Perfect for beginners
