"This book is a great pick for those interested in Malaysian and Southeast Asian cuisine. Most of the recipes are easy for the home cook to create with a nice assortment of appetizers, snacks, meat, seafood, desserts, and drinks. Everything I tried was simple, yet perfectly-balanced.â •Â (Tara's Multicultural Table)

Ping Coombs is a mom, the winner of MasterChef 2014 and a Malaysian cook. She serves up her signature Bao and more at her popup, Chairman Ping.Â

If you haven't had Malaysian food, check this out. If you have, you know this is good! I ogled this cookbook last year in London, decided not to weigh down my bag, and lived to regret it. I was so happy to see that it's come out here. I like how accessible Ping's cooking is. There are a few items I would have to search for even in the SF Bay Area, but most of them are available right here on . Really. I've only made two recipes thus far (roast skate with sambal and jook) and both were excellent. Neither was difficult, but both did take some shopping. While you are waiting for a few exotics (century eggs, anyone?), this is also a fun read. There are stories about Ping's childhood. Ping won a big cooking contest in the UK that she entered to share her love of Malaysian food. I sincerely hope she does as well here.

Love the stories and love the recipes.
