Do you want to motivate learners on the catholic Faith? Have family-fun nights with depth and spiritual meaning? Purchase this book and let the fun and learning begin! My students helped make the games for our classes and my own children made a few for our home, it was great fun. This is great for so many occasions and not just for kids!

It is so difficult to help a child understand their faith but through games and activities that understanding unveils itself. This book is one of the most exciting books I have come across yet.

This was a ok resource but it wasn't quite what I was looking for. It is very time consuming to make everything I needed to play the games in the book.

There are three volumes in the Ready-To-Go Game Show series - Essential Catholic Beliefs, Bible, and Catholic Teachings and Practices. Each volumes is spiral-bound and is 125 to 200+ pages long. The games are geared toward the teen crowd, but they provide enough games and material that you can play them with children a little younger, like 8 to 9 years old. Each book is divided into the specific game show with multiple options for each one. Some examples of the game shows are as follows: 1. Who Wants to be a Catholic Millionaire 2. Faithful Feud (Family Feud) 3. Catholic Jeopardy 4. Holy, Holy, Holy Squares (Hollywood Squares) 5. The Church is Right (The Price is Right) 6. The Real Fortune (Wheel of Fortune) 7. Catholic Pictionary 8. 10,000 Shekel Pyramid ($10,000 Pyramid) 9. Holy Pursuit (Trivial Pursuit) I was intrigued with how you could play The Price is Right with the Catholic Church, so I immediately went to this section. Apparently, you ask the children number related questions, like "How many books are in the Bible?" or "What year did Christianity become a universal religion?" I'm sure you can also think of some others on your own. The child who gets closest to the answer then moves on to the next round where they are given 60 seconds to put the parts of the Mass in order or Feast Days and Holy Days of Obligation in order. There is no final round, but there are enough questions in the first two rounds that it should give every child a chance to participate, even if you have to have students team up. The books are a little pricey at about $22 each, but when you think about the amount of games in each book and the permissions granted to reproduce the pages in these books, they easily pay for themselves after one year's use...if not sooner. It does take a bit of effort to prepare to play each of these games, but the amount of money required to play these games is zero to very minimal depending on how nicely you want the games to look. I highly recommend these books and think that they should be in every religious education program. Be sure to check out other titles from the Ready-To-Go series that include skits, because not every kid is going to love game shows.

This is a great book for anyone looking for new ideas and activities to do with teens to teach them the Catholic faith.
